

Second Behavioral Macroeconomics Workshop: Heterogeneity and Expectations in Macroeconomics and Finance

June 14-15 2019, Bamberg, Germany

Submission Deadline: Sunday March 31, 2019

Call for Papers

Following the success of last year's workshop, the Bamberg Research Group on Behavioral Macroeconomics and the Macroeconomic Policy Institute (IMK) are pleased to host their Second Behavioral Macroeconomics Workshop on the 14th and 15th of June 2019. The workshop will again take place at the University of Bamberg, Germany. Confirmed Keynote Speakers are:

George W. Evans

University of Oregon & University of St. Andrews

Domenico Delli Gatti

Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore

In this edition, we want to highlight new work on heterogeneity and expectations in macroeconomics and finance. We particularly encourage submissions in the following topics:

- Bounded rationality and heterogeneity in macroeconomic models
- Aggregate fluctuations, granularity, and networks
- Agent-based macroeconomic and financial models
- Laboratory experiments on macroeconomics and financial markets
- Housing markets and the macroeconomy
- Financial cycles and macroprudential policies
- Macroeconomic consequences of inequality
- New modeling approaches to macroeconomic sustainability

Presenting authors are expected to act as discussants of another paper in their session. Partial financial support for authors of accepted contributions is possible on an individual basis.

Paper submission

Please send your submissions (including a PDF file of the paper or of an extended abstract of about one page) to the email address vwf-awifo@uni-bamberg.de by Sunday March 31, 2019 at the latest. If you are a graduate (M.Sc. or PhD) student, please also indicate if you would be interested in presenting your work in a poster session. Contributors will be notified by Tuesday April 9, 2019.
