

The Faculty of Human Sciences and Education invites applications for the position of Professor (W 2 salary level) of Social Psychology, Technology, and Society

tenured civil servant to be filled as of the 2022 summer semester.

The candidate for the position is expected to represent the field of Social Psychology, Technology, and Society in research and teaching. The professorship focuses on research on the experience and behaviour of people in social and socio-technical systems and thus contributes to the university's research profile "digital humanities, human and social sciences", sub-area "socio-technical systems". Research at the professorship aims to bridge the gap between the psychology of the individual and dealing with change in work and technology, as to further the development of interdisciplinary research initiatives. The interaction with dynamic systems, decisions under uncertainty, and interactions in groups are relevant areas. Basic as well as applied research and an interdisciplinary focus are expected.

In teaching, the professorship is responsible for the social psychology module in the Bachelor of Psychology program, in teacher education, and in school psychology. In the master's programme teaching focuses on the interaction between people and technology.

The successful candidate is also expected to take on duties in the area of academic self-government and to the Faculty's international exchange programmes.

The relevant qualifications consist of a completed academic degree, pedagogical aptitude, a particular talent for academic work generally substantiated by a doctorate, and further academic achievements. Additional academic credentials must be certified by a Habilitation or equivalent academic qualification, which may also have been obtained through activities outside of higher education or within the scope of an assistant professorship.

Concerning tenured positions as a civil servant ("Beamtenverhältnis"), the candidate must be under the age of 52 years at the time of appointment (for exceptional cases see Art. 10 Abs. 3 Satz 2 BayHSchPG).

The Faculty is an equal opportunity employer and encourages applications from female candidates. Where candidates are otherwise equally qualified, preference will be given to candidates with disabilities.

The University of Bamberg has been certified by the Hertie Foundation as a family-friendly university and is committed to taking measures to help reconcile work and family life. The university is committed to promoting gender equality in the workplace.

The University of Bamberg is a member of the regional Dual Career Network (DCNN) and provides support for the spouses or partners of newly appointed staff. More information can be found here: <http://www.dualcareer-nordbayern.de>.

Applications from abroad are particularly welcome. Both the ability and willingness to teach in English are required.

Applications including the usual documents (CV, list of publications and courses taught, copies of academic transcripts and certificates) are to be submitted in either German or English to: Dean of the Faculty of Human Sciences and Education, University of Bamberg, Markusplatz 3, D-96045 Bamberg and in electronic form, to dekanat.huwi@uni-bamberg.de no later than 30.09.2021.