Presentations

The conference gives doctoral students the opportunity to present and discuss their research with colleagues and leading scholars in the field. The event is structured into sessions. In each session an invited senior researcher will provide feedback on the papers presented by the doctoral students. The conference sessions cover a wide range of research areas, as listed above, dealing with challenges for diverse societies. Doctoral students from all social sciences are welcome to present their scientific insights on challenges today's societies are facing and how they are coping with them.
