

BAMBERG
GRADUATE SCHOOL
OF SOCIAL SCIENCES

FURTHER EDUCATION | WORKSHOP

Strategic Networking

Building a network for Career, Collaborations & Conferences

- Instructor: Rob Thompson, RTTA soft skills for real results
- Date & Time: Tuesday, 23 July 2024, 09.00 a.m. to 05.00 p.m.
- Place: An der Universität 5, 96047 Bamberg, Room U5/02.22
- Registration: To register, please send an email to workshops.trac@uni-bamberg.de by July 09, 2024. Registration is mandatory. The number of participants is limited to 12.

Short Outline

Like it or not, the world works on personal connections and you need to be able to form those connections easily. This workshop will provide you with the tools to effectively make new connections to help you find collaboration partners, information and get jobs. This is not about selling yourself. It is about forming a useful network. This workshop will provide you with easy networking techniques and will teach you open, honest and unobtrusive methods to help you make the best use of opportunities like conferences, symposia and careers fairs.

The learning objectives are to approach people you don't know and make a good impression easily, start conversations or joining into existing ones, connect with people and build useful and productive networks in order to be updated about new scientific developments and hidden job market opportunities.

About the Trainer

Rob Thompson is a founder of RTTA-Workshops, is a TEDx and keynote speaker with a great experience working with researchers and academics from whole Europe. With the help of his model of interpersonal relations Rob Thompson helps increase productivity and unlock full potential of communication skills.