Studying at a (German) University

Research-Oriented
Teaching and Learning

Talk to other students and to us!

Individual Responsibility

University is different!

(compared to learning at school)

More choices

Avoid to get lost!

More self-studies

25% attendance vs. 75% self-studies

More active cooperation

Work together in teams!

More input in less time

Self-studies and reflection is key!

You need to find a way to self-organize and motivate yourself, no matter whether on campus or at home!

Teaching Concepts

- Knowledge and competences

They will be gathered via lectures, exercises, tutorials, projects, seminars, self-learning, ...

- Typical in Computer Science:

Problem-solving, designing & implementing digital solutions in individual and team projects

- Typical in Management Science (e.g., WInfo, IISM):

Case-based teaching □ reading papers required

- Weekly home-work (assignments, readings)

A major part of the teaching concept

- Application of scientific methods

Will be learned in seminars and bachelor/master theses

Essential for Succeeding: Continuous Learning!

Some advice

Have a regular weekly schedule!

Do tasks & assignments on time, don't procrastinate

Meet other students frequently!

Help each other and reflect together

Communicate with us!

Use consultation offers & let us know what you need or tell the Student Council (Fachschaft)!

We hope and wish that you...

... find fascination and passion for your studies!

Fun is a key factor of success!

... make use of the many chances and opportunities you'll encounter!

Work/studies & life; going abroad; student communities

... develop a scientific mindset!

Question everything; use several sources of knowledge
