

The Philosophy of AI

Programme

Venue:

Institute of Philosophy

Jilska 361/1, Prague

25th September

10:30-11:00

M. J. Fuchs (Bamberg), Daniel Novotný (Budweis; Johannesburg), Dániel Schmal (Budapest)

The Philosophy of AI. Introduction to the Workshop

11:00-12:00

Emanuele Lacca (Budweis)

AI and Social Ethics. Challenges and Perspectives for Contemporary Societies

12:00-14:00 Lunch Break

14:00-15:00

Michael Kenning (Bamberg)

Artificial Intelligence or Artificial Reason: A Revision of Terminology

15:00-15:30 Coffee Break

15:30-16:30

Daniel Novotný (Budweis, Johannesburg)

Philosophical Perspectives on AI Risks

16:30-17:30

Ondřej Krása (Pardubice)

Can we Understand AI? Conceptual Limits of Mechanistic Interpretability.

26th September

10:00-11:00

Laszlo Bernath (Budapest)

AI vs Philosophers

11:00-11:30 Coffee Break

11:30-12:30

Ermylos Plevrakis (Stuttgart)

On (Artificial) Consciousness and Mind, from a Hegelian Perspective

12:20-14:30 Lunch Break

14:30-15:30

Andrea Vestrucci (Bamberg, ILT University, SD, USA)

Why Do Philosophy with AI (And Why It Matters Ethically) (Online)

15:30-16:00 Coffee Break

16:00-17:00

Juraj Hvorecký (Prague)

AI and the Unconsciousness

17:00-17:30 Coffee Break

17:30-19:00

Joanna Bryson (Berlin)

How Consciousness Relates to Morality: When Artificial Consciousness Is Unimportant

19:30 Conference Dinner

27th September

09:30-10:30

Peter Varga (Budapest)

Where does the true challenge of AI lie for (Catholic) theology and philosophy of religion? From the Index Thomisticus to Antiqua et nova and back again

10:30-11:30

Ehsan Arzroomchilar (Budweis)

A Sufi Way of Living with AI (?)

11:30-12:00 Coffee Break

12:00-13:00

Dániel Golden (Budapest)

Is there an artificial intelligence?

13:00-13:30

M. J. Fuchs (Bamberg), Daniel Novotný (Budweis, Johannesburg), Dániel Schmal (Budapest)

Closing Remarks by the Organisers, Outlook on Future Events of the Series

End of the Workshop

Participants

1. Marko J. Fuchs (Bamberg) / Dániel Schmal (Budapest, HUN-REN Centre for the Humanities) / Daniel Novotný (Budweis, Johannesburg): "Introduction"
2. Joanna Bryson (Hertie School Berlin): "How Consciousness Relates to Morality: When Artificial Consciousness Is Unimportant"
3. Ermylos Plevrakis (Stuttgart): "On (Artificial) Consciousness and Mind, from a Hegelian Perspective"
4. Daniel Novotný (Budweis; Johannesburg): "Philosophical Perspectives on AI Risks"
5. Michael Kenning (Bamberg): "Artificial Intelligence or Artificial Reason: A Revision of Terminology"
6. Emanuele Lacca (Budweis): "AI and Social Ethics. Challenges and Perspectives for Contemporary Societies"
7. Andrea Vestrucci (Bamberg, ILT University, SD, USA): "Why Do Philosophy with AI (And Why It Matters Ethically)"
8. Juraj Hvorecký (Prague, Centrum Karla Čapka): "AI and the Unconsciousness"
9. Dániel Golden (Budapest, ELTE Research Centre for the Humanities): "Is there an artificial intelligence?"
10. Laszlo Bernath (Budapest, ELTE Research Centre for the Humanities): "AI vs Philosophers"
11. Ehsan Arzroomchilar (Budweis): "A Sufi Way of Living with AI (?)"
12. Peter Varga (Budapest, ELTE Research Centre for the Humanities): "Where does the true challenge of AI lie for (Catholic) theology and philosophy of religion? From the Index Thomisticus to Antiqua et nova and back again"
13. Ondřej Krása (Pardubice): "Can we Understand AI? Conceptual Limits of Mechanistic Interpretability"