

Handwritten text, possibly a title or header, written in a cursive script. The text is mirrored across the page, suggesting it was written on the reverse side and is now appearing as bleed-through.

