Information for Prospective International Students

Studying in Bamberg as a Non-Exchange Student (Undergraduate)

Information of the International Office

Updated: October 2021 – Photos: Andrea M. Müller
Prior to Applying

Non-German citizens and those with university entry qualifications (certificates) from abroad must apply at the International Office (exception: prospective Master’s degree students); this also applies when you have passed the pre-university examination at a Studienkolleg (Zeugnis über die Feststellungsprüfung).

The subsequent information is relevant for applications of the following types:
- Undergraduate courses (Bachelor’s, teacher training)
- DSH semester course
- Short-term non-degree study programme (Kurzzeitstudium ohne Abschlussmöglichkeit)
- Studienkolleg

Prerequisites

Before applying to the university, the following qualifications have to be evaluated:
- Type of university entry qualification (HZB: Hochschulzugangsberechtigung)
- German language proficiency

University Entry Qualifications (Approval)

The International Office evaluates higher education certificates from foreign countries.

Overview of possible evaluations of higher education certificates:
- Direct university entry (with or without subject restriction)
- Access to the pre-university examination at a Studienkolleg (with or without subject restriction)
- No access to study (neither direct university entry, nor access to take the pre-university examination at a Studienkolleg)

German Language Proficiency Requirements

German language proficiency is an obligatory requirement for all students intending to take study programmes taught in German. If you are not proficient in the German language, your application to study these programmes cannot be considered.

The DSH (Deutsche Sprachprüfung für den Hochschulzugang) or an equivalent German language examination must be successfully passed before enrolling for the intended degree programme.

The University of Bamberg offers the DSH twice a year (for a fee). In addition, DSH semester courses are offered (for a fee).
