

Information on Teaching in the 2021 Summer Semester (8)

Dear colleagues,

The latest Corona regulations of the Bavarian state government in force since the beginning of this week, have resulted in the following new situation for classroom teaching: If the Robert Koch Institute (RKI) publishes a 7-day incidence of over 35 (instead of over 50 as previously) on three consecutive days, there is an obligation to test from the day after next. In this case, persons participating in in-person courses must submit a written or electronic negative result of a PCR test, PoC-PCR test, test using other methods of nucleic acid amplification technology or POC antigen test carried out under medical supervision (e.g. in a pharmacy or in a test centre) twice a week. Only vaccinated or recovered persons without typical symptoms of corona disease are exempt from the obligation to provide proof of testing. In such cases, proof of complete vaccination protection or recovery from prior illness must be presented. According to the current situation, those responsible for the course in question must verify the corresponding confirmations. As the incidence threshold of 35 has been exceeded in Bamberg for some time now, this regulation must currently be observed at our university.

Sincerely,

Stefan Hörmann
